Kennedy and Bush Win Greenbelt & P.G. County Vote; Carter & Reagan Win State

by Elaine Skolnik

If Greenbelt voters had prevailed, Democrat Edward Kennedy and Republican George Bush would have emerged victorious in Maryland's May 13 presidential primary election. However, unlike the 1976 primary, Greenbelt's preferences did not follow the county and state patterns (see charts in May 15 News Review).

In Greenbelt, Kennedy swept all four precincts, garnering 46% of the vote, about 10% more than incumbent President Jimmy Carter. While also capturing the Prince Georges County vote, Kennedy lost statewide, where voters gave Carter a 47 to 38% win over Kennedy. Thirteen percent of the Democrats voting for president in Greenbelt opted for "Uncommitted to any Presidential Candidate." This was about 3% above the county and state totals.

Locally, Bush had a one vote edge over Ronald Reagan (322 to 321). But Reagan was the victor in the county with 49.5%, as well as scoring his victory over Bush across the state by a margin of 48 to 41%.

Independent candidate John Anderson, who remained on the Republican ballot, collected 12% of the Republican presidential vote in Greenbelt. Statewide and in the county, he received 9.5% of the vote.

In the 12-way Democratic Senatorial race, Greenbelters did not buck the trend. Edward Conroy won convincingly and will face two-term Republican, Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., in November.

Locally Conroy rolled up 69.7% of the vote; in the county, he led the field with 48.8% and across the state 21.9%. Mathias easily defeated his five opponents in Greenbelt with 49.7% of the vote. In the county he chalked up 46.7% and statewide received 54.5%.

Three-term Democratic incumbent Gladys Noon Spellman continues to be Greenbelt's top vote-getter. In her bid for the congressional seat from the Fifth Congressional District, Spellman amassed a whopping 90% (1,924) of the vote locally. Also tops in the district, she swamped her challenger, collecting 88% of the vote (32,817).

Spellman will face Kevin Igoe in November. He garnered 46% of the Greenbelt Republican vote and 49% in the district.

Only 40.5% of the 7,483 registered Republicans and Democrats voted in Greenbelt's four precincts. Across the state and in the county, the turnout was about 36%. Both were substantially below the turnouts in 1976.

Also for the first time in recent memory a higher percentage of Republicans than Democrats turned out to vote. In Greenbelt, about 41.9% of the 1,802 eligible Republicans cast ballots while 40% of the 5,681 registered Democratic voters trekked to the polls. In 1976, 51% of the registered Democrats and 39% of the Republicans voted. In the 1978 off-year primary election, 40% of the eligible Democrats and 27% of the Republicans cast ballots.

Although 2,273 Democrats voted in the primary, 2,221 voted for the president slot; 1,836 for U.S. Senate; and 2,145 for the Congressional seat. On the Republican side, of the 756 who cast votes, 743 cast ballots for president, 615 for U.S. Senate and 514 for Congress.

Delegates

In Greenbelt's Republican delegate race, Saul Harris, Philip Hogue and Audrey Scott (all Bush supporters) scored the highest. However, after all the Fifth Congressional District votes were counted, Scott, Lawrence J. Hogan Jr. (uncommitted) and Gloria A. Baumgaertner (Reagan) were selected to represent the Republicans at the National Convention in Detroit.

The Republican primary in Maryland is a "winner take all" primary. This means that Reagan will have all the Congressional district's delegates bound to him through the first two ballots at the National Convention.

Democrats, however, no longer can vote in the primary for delegates to the National Convention. Legislation adopted this year has changed the procedure. Instead, delegates and alternates will be selected on Saturday, June 7, when registered Democrats will participate in an open post-primary caucus in their Congressional Districts. The delegate representation will be based on the proportion of the total vote that was received by the respective candidates/uncommitted in the primary.

Fifty-eight persons filed with the party indicating the presidential candidate whom they desire to support.

Greenbelters will caucus at Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

Police Program Draws Crowd

The third annual Police Week Program, sponsored by the Greenbelt Police Department and the Beltway Plaza Merchants' Association, was held May 6-10 at the Beltway Plaza Mall. Both the participants and the visitors agreed that it was a rousing success.

The program provided an opportunity for the members of the community to meet and speak with some of the Greenbelt officers, as well as members of other law enforcement organizations. Informative literature and demonstrations in all areas of police work were provided. Police cruisers, motorcycles, helicopters and other equipment were displayed, as well as dangerous substances (narcotics) and a variety of seized weapons. Information was made available on burglary prevention, drug abuse, home security, commercial security, auto theft, bicycle safety and other crime prevention measures.

Highlights of the program included demonstrations by the United States Park Police Mounted Unit and the Drug Enforcement Association Canine. The Prince Georges County Police Emergency Services Team, with a Maryland State Police helicopter, put on a special demonstration. The team descended to the roof of the Basco Store from the helicopter and rappelled down the side of the building.

The Greenbelt Police Department is composed of 26 uniformed officers, six full time civilian employees, and four part time employees. Major duties include patrol, traffic supervision, crime investigation and prevention or suppression. The department provides 24 hour a day full police service to the community, with the latest communications equipment, the MILES and NCIC computerized information retrieval system, two professional criminal investigators, a records and identification division, a specialist in juvenile matters, and a crime prevention team. ## GHI and HUD Negotiate On Loan Requirements

On Tuesday, May 20, seven members of the Greenbelt Homes, Inc., Board of Directors and one Audit Committee member, City Manager Jim Giese and Councilman Charles Schwan, met with HUD officials at the Central office in Washington, D.C. to try to resolve the problems which are holding up closing of the 312 (3%) HUD-financed loan and, therefore, the start of the long-awaited rehabilitation program.

Basically GHI was seeking a definitive list of any outstanding requirements to close on the HUD loan and the assurance from HUD that after these requirements are met, HUD will not bring forth additional requirements. Ken Kopstein presented Dodge with a letter of commitment from Citizens Bank and Trust Company of Maryland to fund part of Phase II of the Rehabilitation Program (completing those items mandated by the county). GHI does not expect to use the Citizens loan, however, because more favorable financing will probably be available through city revenue bonds.

GHI had agreed to use of the 312 loan for the frame units only because of the controversy with the Maryland Historical Trust over the use of sliding windows and vinyl siding in the masonry homes.

As a result of the discussion See GHI-HUD, p. 5, col. 1

To Serve The Public

The happy conjunction of National Police Week and the Greenbelt Police Department's third annual Police Week Program earlier this month provides a suitable occasion for comment. We have often wondered what motivates people to pursue a law enforcement career. It may be, as Lt. John Krob surmises, that the desire to become a police officer most likely begins in the formative years of childhood, when principles, values and virtues are still clear and pure. But police work is a singularly adult profession and those who practice it are, in the highest sense of the word, true professionals. They are motivated by a belief in justice, in truth and in equality of treatment under the law. They are motivated by pride in themselves, their departments and their communities. And they are dedicated to the double objective of serving and protecting the public.

And yet, we cannot help but note that the pay is nothing to write home about, the hours are terrible, the pressures overwhelming and the abuse considerable. There is precious little appreciation for the job they do, their home life is often disrupted, and there is constant stress and tension in their work. To top it all, there is a substantial element of risk and danger. So why would anyone want to become a police officer?

As with all things deeply felt, when you ask this question of police officers, the answer is almost always the same—to serve the public. This may not be an adequate answer, but it will do. And we, the public, are thankful that such dedicated individuals exist. They receive gratification in knowing that they are helping someone and for this they deserve the respect and admiration of everyone.

The Cultural Center - A Lifesaver For Greenbelt

Those of us who have recently visited the Cultural Arts Center, in the heart of Greenbelt, have been impressed by the visible progress in all areas of the theatre—cleaned and painted walls, effective stage lighting, and now comfortable seats. This creation by a small group of dedicated and extremely hard-working people—only an abstract idea some months ago—has taken concrete form.

However, this is also, perhaps, the most critical time in the Center's young life. Its survival will depend, to a great extent, on the patronage and support we Greenbelters can provide.

Does it deserve our support? Some very strong arguments have been made in the affirmative. One of the most compelling is that the economic viability of our whole shopping center may well depend on the ability of the Cultural Center to bring in potential customers. The Shopping Center faces new competition with the soon-to-be-opened Greenway Shopping Center, as it did when the Beltway Plaza came on the scene.

With the cost of automobile driving going up and up, Greenbelters can ill afford to have our conveniently close supermarket and other business establishments shut down. Yet, that is a distinct possibility if corrective measures are not taken. The Cultural Center could prove to be a real lifeline for the oldest part of the community.

For many years, after the closing of the theater, the city's center has had no focal point. As a result, people have been attracted away to livelier sources of entertainment. That movement can be reversed.

Now, once again, excitement and vitality attract us to the mall. Young and old alike are participating in a project that is just beginning and has already tapped a large local reservoir of talent.

We hope our readers will respond to the continuing fund-raising appeal for the Cultural Center. Contributions can be made directly at the theater itself or mailed in with the special contribution form carried in recent issues of this newspaper.

School Committee

The Greenbelt School Committee will meet on Sunday, June 1 at 8 p.m. in the city council chambers. Parents and others interested in Bethune junior high will discuss progress made since the last meeting and formation of a parent volunteer committee.

Choper and Amberg Win Skolnik Award

Two Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High School students this year—Carl Choper and Alan Amberg—received the annual award for a Greenbelt student outstanding in journalism, given annually in memory of the late Alfred M. Skolnik, former News Review staff member and board president. Both have worked as volunteers on the News Review for several years, and both have also worked on school publications, in particular the Raider Review and the PTSA Newsletter.

As in previous years the presentation was made by Katherine Keene, an ERSHS faculty member and a member of the News Review staff. Her speech included the following statement:

"For many years Alfred M. Skolnik lived in Greenbelt. He was, from the time he moved into the community, on the staff and later president of the board of our cooperative newspaper, the News Review. He had a concern for the welfare of the community, for its growth, for its quality as a residential area, and he put service to others at the head of his responsibilities.

Keene particularly stressed the assistance provided to the News Review by Choper and Amberg not only as writers but also in layout, preparing copy, and keeping the community informed about events at the school.

"Since both of you were privileged to know Al Skolnik," she concluded, "I don't have to tell you that I trust you will both take his life as an inspiration for your own in using your talents in service to others."

BULLETIN

Greenbelt Homes, Inc., was successful in defending a suit brought against the corporation by Prince Georges County. The county sued GHI to enforce the Human Relation Commission's (HRC) order to require that GHI permit the sale of homes to unrelated persons living together. GHI's attorney, Albert Ginsberg, who received notice of the Court's ruling on Tuesday, May 20, notified the News Review.

Circuit Court Judge David Gray Ross granted summary judgment in favor of GHI on May 16. (Under the law, summary judgment is granted when a judge feels there is no reason for a trial, when there are no facts to prove to a jury. In most cases, it saves defendants the massive costs of a trial when charges are unfounded or frivolous.)

In part, Judge Ross said: "It is clear that the legislative body intended to prohibit discrimination due to marital status — widow, widower or divorced person. It cannot be construed that the HRC ordinance intended to provide protection for unmarried persons living together under a section prohibiting discrimination by marital status. People who are not married to one another do not have a marital status and for that reason it is clear that the legislative body did not intend for such to apply. If the county council of Prince Georges County wants that intent, the ordinance should be amended to prohibit discrimination by marital status or 'lack thereof.'"

Open Letter

William T. Lane, Chief of Police
Greenbelt Police Department
25 Crescent Road
Greenbelt, Maryland 20770

Dear Chief Lane:

I would like to compliment the Greenbelt Police Department on their Third Annual Police Week Program. The displays, exhibits, and demonstrations were the best ever, and the overall program was outstanding.

As you know, a police officer, in addition to being a peace officer, needs to be a public relations officer to develop good community relations. I believe this program was a very positive step in improving the police image with the public.

Please communicate my thanks to the men and women who participated in the program—and my special appreciation to the coordinators who spent so many months of work preparing for this show.

The program was not only a hallmark for law enforcement, but a hallmark for the Greenbelt Police Department.

Sincerely,

Gil Weidenfeld
Mayor

GHI - SPECIAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING

Wednesday
May 28 - 8 p.m.

Center School Auditorium

TO VOTE ON

- Conversion to Individualized Electric Heat and Hot Water System
- Additional Rehabilitation for Masonry and Larger Homes

Friday, May 24, — Last Day
To Obtain A Proxy

Proxies for this meeting may be obtained from the business office at GHI, Hamilton Place, or the Board's secretary, Margaret Hogensen, 53-F Ridge Road, and will be mailed to the member unless requested in person. All requests for proxies must be received in writing and the member must state the name of the person chosen to vote his/her proxy. Members may vote only one proxy. The completed proxy form must be returned to the business office or the Board's secretary by Friday, May 23.

Questions Members Are Asking

- Q - Once we convert to electric heat, will our monthly charges go down?
A - Monthly charges will go down for the amount currently being paid for fuel oil and maintenance of the heating plant. However, total monthly charges will not decrease because of rising costs in other than heating e.g. taxes, water & sewer charges and maintenance materials and repayment of the HUD loan and other loans used to convert the heating system and perform the membership-approved rehabilitation.
- Q - Where will the electric heaters be located?
A - The standard location will be under the window where the existing radiator is now. In some cases, the location can be modified to accommodate furniture placement and other individual needs.
- Q - Can radiant heat be combined with baseboard heaters?
A - Yes. Both are electric systems.
- Q - What are the comparative costs between the baseboard units and the radiant panels?
A - The electric baseboard units and the radiant panels will be very close in price—approximately $1,000 for the average frame home and $1,235 for average brick house. Heavy-up and installation of the hot water heaters will add approximately $900-$1000 to the total cost of heat conversion.
- Q - Can a heat pump system be installed?
A - Yes. The heat pump—incremental (an individual unit in each room) or a centralized system requiring duct work—is an option members may choose at additional cost. Heat pumps offer the advantage of air conditioning and the disadvantage of costing twice as much as the baseboard system.
- Q - People who have all electric homes pay a lot to heat their homes. Why will electricity cost less than oil in GHI?
A - People who are paying high electricity bills for all electric homes generally have an electric furnace which is much less efficient and costs more to operate than the baseboard heaters. Also, these homes are usually much larger than a GHI home and are not well-insulated. In addition, GHI's antiquated heating system burns about 50% more fuel than a modern efficient system would and the cost of oil is escalating at a much more rapid rate than electricity.
- Q - If I so choose, can I pay off any part of the rehabilitation loan or the heat conversion loan and lower my monthly charges?
A - Yes.
- Q - Why did GHI want to be on the Historic Register and can't we get off it?
A - The original planned community of Greenbelt was placed on the Maryland Historic Places List several years ago and it is this listing that has caused GHI's problems with the state historical people. GHI has no option either to be on or off the Register.
- Q - Will the heat conversion take place before the new windows and insulation are installed?
A - Maybe, depending on the construction schedule developed and the financing. The time difference between insulation/window replacement and electrical conversion should be less than one year according to our present schedule. The board has determined that the heat conversion will cost less than continuing on the present oil fired system even if installation of windows and insulation does not occur as rapidly as we would wish.
- Q - Are heaters that contain water better than those that don't and which kind is being recommended?
A - GHI is recommending that the baseboard units with a heating element be the standard. Those with a water solution inside a sealed tube which recirculates inside the unit would be an option for those who prefer this system. There are no real advantages/disadvantages that GHI can determine; however they are reported to take somewhat longer to heat up, but stay warmer longer. They would be more expensive.
- Q - What is the recommended size of the hot water tank?
A - GHI is recommending a 52 gallon tank for all homes except the one-bedroom homes which will probably only need a 40 gallon tank.
- Q - Where will the tanks be located?
A - Ideally, in one of the interior closets as close to the plumbing pipes as possible. In masonry homes, placement in the furnace room is also possible at a slightly higher cost. Crawl space and attic placement will probably not be permitted.
- Q - Can the tanks be located in the exterior trash closet?
A - Yes. But heat will be lost to the outdoors unless the tank and the pipes are well-insulated at additional expense to the members.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Public Works Services provided in our community are an integral part of our citizens' every day lives; and

WHEREAS, the support of an understanding and informed citizenry is vital to the efficient operation of public works systems and programs — such as the maintenance of our public buildings and facilities, our streets and highways, our parks and playgrounds and open spaces; and

WHEREAS, timely maintenance of public facilities represents a wise investment which prolongs the life of the systems that support our health, safety and comfort; but which depends greatly on the personnel in our Public Works Department and the work they do so well;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gil Weidenfeld, Mayor of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland, by authority vested in me by the Council and the citizens of Greenbelt, hereby proclaim the week of May 18 to May 24, 1980 as

NATIONAL PUBLIC WORKS WEEK IN GREENBELT

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Greenbelt to be affixed hereto this 15th day of May, 1980.

Gil Weidenfeld, Mayor

with HUD. the board members pre sent seemed to feel that a more equitable arrangement for paying back all the rehabilitation loans — HUD 312 (3%) and revenue bonds (currently 10½%) — would be for the frame and masonry members to share equally in the financing. This means that all members will pay back the loans at the same rate, about 7%, instead of some members paying 3% interest and others paying 10½% interest.

Dodge insisted that a membership resolution confirming the financing for the original rehabilitation program be approved by the membership.

The meeting closed with Dodge affirming that he would go back to the area office to make certain that there were no further requirements that GHI had to meet and GHI board members agreeing to meet on Wednesday night in a special session to draft a resolution to be mailed to the membership and voted on at the May 28 Special Membership Meeting.

GREENBELT DAY 1980 CELEBRATION

The first Sunday in June is officially recognized as Greenbelt Day. It is a day for residents to commemorate Greenbelt's past, celebrate Greenbelt's present and look towards Greenbelt's future. A time for citizens to give thought to their community and how they can make it a better place in which to live.

This year marks the 43rd Anniversary of Greenbelt's founding. Traditionally, the entire weekend (Friday through Sunday) is celebrated with special observances and recreation events. Activities are scheduled for all ages, for both participants and spectators, and with many opportunities for the whole family to become involved.

Features of this year's program include Municipal Pool aquatics activities, table games, race events, golf, tennis, and softball tournaments, band concerts and special events sponsored by the Recreation Department. Spectators can expect a variety of attractions to provide for their enjoyment.

The Mayor and Council will honor the city's rich past, present and future in a pre-concert ceremony at 2 p.m. on Sunday, June 1 at the Center Mall. Afterwards the Greenbelt Concert Band of Prince Georges County will present a program of popular and patriotic scores.

In conjunction with the celebration, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad is sponsoring a Sunday Dinner, from 12 noon to 6 p.m. for a fee.
